

The Titles on Student Success and Beyond Essays: Oof. Oy. Yikes.

How many of the following essays do you want to read based on title alone? The title is the very first thing a reader will notice about your essay. What impression do you want to give them? What attitude do you want the reader to have as they begin to read your essay? Notice how many of students used the same title, or a slight variation thereof. Does that mean the essay content is exactly the same? Here are the titles on student essays for Spring 2017. I've underlined the titles that interest me in reading the essay; I've put an asterisk by titles that aren't interesting, but fine.
